MISSION STATEMENT:

While our Association was established in 1986, we are currently rebranding to once again make our District a Destination! We are on the horizon of something special. For the first time in many years, local stores, restaurants, galleries, and businesses of all kinds are uniting for the greater good of our business community. Our geographic area now encompasses Walnut to Market Street and 7th to 9th Street. We encourage you to speak to your neighbors who might want to be part of our Association as well. The more support we have the stronger we will be!

HISTORY:

The Jewelers' Row District, which spans from Walnut to Market Street and 7th to 9th Street, encompasses not only the finest jewelry stores and retail shops, but mouth-watering restaurants and businesses of all kinds. Stroll down our historic brick-paved Sansom Street to enjoy some of the best window shopping you'll ever see. Jewelers' Row is the oldest diamond district in America, dating back to 1851.

Jewelers' Row (Carstairs Row) was designed by builder and architect Thomas Carstairs, circa 1799 through 1820, for developer William Sansom, as part of the first speculative housing developments and introduction of the Row house in the United States. Carstairs Row was built on the southern part of the site occupied by "Morris' Folly" Robert Morris' unfinished mansion designed by L'Enfant.

Today Jewelers' Row still has many elements that take you back in time, from unique architecture to our brick-paved street. The District as a whole is a beautiful mix of history, businesses, residential living and tourism. Come explore where Philadelphia's past meets Philadelphia's future.
